“Education is not preparation for life, it is life itself”. We want our students to associate what they learned at university with real life experiences, to have the opportunity to apply what they have learned, and to experience the real life during their education. For this reason, internship is a compulsory part of our curriculum as a part of our education and training programs. Our students spend at least one semester in a workplace operating in their fields. According to our 7+1, 3+1 curriculum, students are expected to attend school for 7 terms in undergraduate programs and be at a workplace for one term while this is 3 terms at school and one term at a workplace in associate degree programs. ### Undergraduate and Associate Degree Programs

Undergraduate programs of faculties and higher schools are comprised of two joint levels which include associate level. Regular period of study of these programs' associate level is two-academic years, total credit points based on student course load is 120 ECTS, regular period of study of undergraduate programs are four-academic years, total credit points based on student course load is 240 ECTS.

Regular period of study for vocational schools is two academic years, total credit points based on student course load is 120 ECTS.

Starting from first academic year on the program to which the student is registered to, without considering whether the student is registered to each semester, maximum period of study of the associate program is four academic years, maximum period of study of the undergraduate programs is seven academic years. The students who fail to complete their education in the maximum period of study will be subjected to provisions of Law numbered 2547.

English Preparatory Program

Depending on the requirements of the program they are enrolled in, students can study in a compulsory or optional English preparatory program. For students studying in the compulsory English preparatory program in the foreign languages department, the normal education period is one year, and the maximum education period is two years. The provisions of the Law No. 2547 are applied for the students who are not successful in the maximum period. For students studying in the optional English preparatory program, the maximum period of study is one year. Matters related to compulsory or optional foreign language preparatory programs are carried out in accordance with the principles determined by the Senate. For further details, please see Beykoz University English Preparatory Education Directive at <https://www.beykoz.edu.tr/icerik/460-yonergeler>.

Transfer

Transfer means that the student registered in a higher education institution gains the right to continue education in other diploma programs at the same level.

Inter-institutional transfer: A transfer from one university to another at the same level.

Internal transfer: Transfer to other diploma programs at the same level within the University where a student is registered.

Students can transfer in two ways: Transfer by Central Placement Score (Additional Article 1) and Transfer Based on Grade Point Average. The time spent in the previous program is included in the maximum education period of the students that enrol in equivalent programs through transfer from within and outside the university.

The maximum duration of the students who transfer to a program different from the program they are studying through their central placement score is calculated by subtracting the duration of the year or semester in which they are adjusted, after their adjustment to the program they transferred, from the maximum duration of the program.

External Transfer

External transfer refers to the placement process of the students who graduated from our vocational schools to the undergraduate programs, which are an extension of their field of study that they have completed, according to the results of the exam made by the Student Selection and Placement Center (ÖSYM). Candidates who make external transfers are adapted to the third year of the undergraduate program they have won. Along with the adjustment, the courses that are missing from the lower classes but must be taken, the courses that have prerequisites and co-requisites, and the courses that are exempt from the upper classes are also determined. In the adaptation process, by recognizing the previous learning, the courses that they are exempt from, internship and similar studies are also determined. Registered students must first take the missing courses from the lower classes and the courses that have prerequisites and co-requisites. The normal duration and maximum duration of external transfer students are determined by deducting 4 semesters from the normal and maximum duration determined for the relevant program. 9 periods in the Preparatory Program are excluded from the scope. The fractional part of the number found by dividing the sum of the ECTS credits of the courses to be completed in order to complete the courses missing from the lower grades is added to the normal and maximum durations as the number found by rounding up.

Student Workload and Course Requirements

The student workload and course taking conditions determined in the 20th article of Beykoz University Undergraduate-Associate Degree Education Regulation and updated with the Senate Decision defines the normal student workload for a student in a semester is 30 ECTS, and the maximum student workload is 42 ECTS.

With the approval of their advisors, students can replace the courses they are exempted from for the first semester, provided that they do not exceed the normal workload, and depending on the grade point averages formed at the end of the semester in the following semesters can take courses from upper semesters with the proviso that they do not exceed the maximum workload and the number of ECTS shown below:

- a) Students with a GPA of 1.79 (or lower) over 4.00 can take up to 30 ECTS worth of courses from lower and/or upper semesters,
- b) Students with a GPA between 1.80-2.49 over 4.00 can take up to 36 ECTS worth of courses from lower and/or upper semesters,
- c) Students with a GPA of 2.50 (or higher) over 4.00 can take up to 42 ECTS worth of courses from lower and/or upper semesters,
- d) Students who are supposed to graduate can take up to 42 ECTS worth of courses regardless of their GPA provided that they do not exceed the maximum studyload set. (If a student can graduate when s/he takes 42 ECTS worth of courses, s/he is defined as a student supposed to graduate.)

Academic Counselling and Student Success Tracking

The academic advisor is the instructor who monitors the success and development of the student throughout his/her education and advises and guides the student regarding the compulsory and elective courses that the student should take within the framework of the relevant curriculum. The principles regarding the implementation of academic counselling are determined by the Senate.

Academic counselling is supported by the Student Success Tracking Unit, which monitors the academic success of students throughout their education, supports the success and development of the student, and works in coordination with academic units and academic advisors.

Course Registration

Students who pay their tuition fees at the beginning of each academic year/semester and are still in their maximum education period choose their courses over the EÖBS for that semester, on the dates specified in the academic calendar and within the framework of the Beykoz University Undergraduate and Associate Degree Education Regulations and then they finalize their course registration with the approval of the advisors.

The students that attend the compulsory English preparatory program in the foreign languages department and have fulfilled the English language proficiency requirements at the end of the fall semester as well as the students that continue the optional English preparatory program can enrol in the courses available for the spring semester of the program they will be studying if the latter choose to give up the preparatory program.

The students who have successfully completed the compulsory English preparatory program in the foreign languages department and the students who participate in the optional English preparatory program can take courses from the first year of the education program they are enrolled in, if they wish, during the summer school term at the end of the preparatory program.

Adding and Dropping Courses

On the dates specified in the academic calendar, students, instead of the courses they are registered for, can add and drop courses via EÖBS within the framework of the conditions specified in Article 20 of the Beykoz University Undergraduate and Associate Degree Education Regulations.

Withdrawal from the Course

With the opinion of the advisor and the decision of the relevant Board of Directors, students can withdraw from the course they have registered until the deadline specified in the academic calendar, after the add and drop period ends. Students who withdraw from the course are given a W grade. It is possible to withdraw from a maximum of two courses in associate degree programs and four courses in undergraduate programs during the education period.

No refunds will be made for withdrawals from the course. As a result of withdrawing from the course, the number of courses registered by the student in a semester cannot fall below two. Students cannot choose another course in the same semester instead of the course they have withdrawn. First year students cannot withdraw from courses.

Course Repeats

Students with a semester letter success grade of DZ, FF, FD, BZ and W must repeat these courses they failed or were withdrawn from. The grades of the repeated courses are recorded in the semesters to which the course belongs and are included in the grade point average of that semester.

The maximum course load that students in double major and minor programs can take in one semester remains a total of 42 ECTS (That number includes all his/her major, second major or minor ECTS.)

Students can take another elective course instead of the elective courses they failed, provided that the credits are not less than the course they failed.

If students failed a course that is later removed from the curriculum as a result of changes in the education and training programs, they take the course/courses that has/have replaced the course(s) they failed, provided that this new course/these new courses does not/do not have fewer credits than the credit(s) of the course(s) they failed. The higher grades of the course(s) taken are recorded in their transcripts.

Obligation to Attend Courses

It is compulsory to attend 70% in theoretical and applied courses and 80% in English preparatory program courses.

Students' attendance records are recorded in EÖBS by the instructor of the course. Students who cannot meet the attendance requirement of the course cannot take the final exam.

According to the principles determined by the Senate, the periods during which a student is excused with a medical report and the period the students who are allowed to participate in domestic and international sports, cultural, scientific and artistic activities are away on behalf of the University are not counted as absenteeism. However, these periods cannot exceed 50% of the total course hours.

Students, if they wish, can take each course/courses they have successfully completed again for once in order to increase their grade point averages.

If students fail a course that has been removed from the curriculum as a result of changes in the education and training programs, they are deemed to have met the attendance requirement for the course that is matched with the failed course among the main course categories to which that course belongs. Students who fail the compulsory English preparatory program must meet the attendance requirement when they repeat the preparatory program.

Vocational Practices at the Workplace (Internship)

Applied Training at Work (internship) at the university is compulsory in all associate and undergraduate programs. In some programs, due to the nature of the programs, a different practice may be arranged with the decision of the relevant academic unit and the Senate. The internship period and application principles of the students are carried out according to the principles determined by the Senate, taking into account the application needs of the programs, and in accordance with the Beykoz University Practice Training Directive. Some of the important information about the directive are as follows.

- In order for students to be sent to institutions for applied training in the workplace, the overall weighted grade point average of the semesters they have completed until then must be at least 1.50.
- In order for students to take the Workplace Applied Training course, the maximum number of courses that they missed or did not take in the relevant semester can be 2. Students with more than 2 courses must first complete the courses they have taken and failed or failed to take. For more detailed information, please read the related directive at <https://www.beykoz.edu.tr/icerik/460-yonergeler>.

Tuition Fees

Education at Beykoz University is subject to a fee.

Tuition fees and payment methods are determined and announced each year by the Board of Trustees for students who continue their education and will be newly registered.

Considering the year of his/her enrolment at the university, the student who cannot complete the program in the normal education period pays the tuition fee determined per credit by the Board of Trustees for the courses to be taken.

If the total tuition fee to be paid by the student for the courses to be taken exceeds the current year's tuition fee, the current year's tuition fee is applied. Double major and minor students do not pay tuition fees in addition to the tuition fees they pay for the major program during the normal education period of their major program.

Double major or minor students who cannot complete their major, second major or minor program within the normal education period of the major in which the student is registered pay the tuition fee determined per credit for the courses by the Board of Trustees.

Students who register or renew their registration by paying the tuition fee, in case of leaving the University for any reason and being dismissed from the University, will be refunded the tuition fee at the time and rates determined by the Board of Trustees.

Private and visiting students are required to pay the tuition fee determined per credit according to the credits of the courses they are enrolled in.

According to the provisions of the Higher Education Institutions Student Disciplinary Regulation published in the Official Gazette dated 18/8/2012 and numbered 28388, the tuition fees paid by the students who are suspended from the University are not refunded.

Students who do not pay their tuition fees within the periods specified in the academic calendar are not registered and their registrations are not renewed. These students cannot benefit from student rights.

Scholarships

Scholarships provided to students placed with scholarships by ÖSYM are non-refundable. It continues during the normal education period including the compulsory English preparatory program and covers only the tuition fee. Scholarships of scholarship students who cannot complete their education within the normal education period can be extended for a maximum of one more year if the students have a valid excuse, if this is accepted by the University Administrative Board and is approved by the Board of Trustees.

Scholarships are valid for domestic tuition fees and do not cover special conditions that may arise within the framework of the University's agreements with institutions abroad.

Rector's List, Dean/ Director's Honour List

At the end of each semester, high-achieving students enrolled in associate, undergraduate and preparatory programs at Beykoz University are selected to the Rector's List (President's List), Dean's List and School Director's List (Director's List). Students who are selected to the Rector's List, Dean's List and School Director's List in line with the requirements specified in the "Beykoz University Rector's, Dean's/Director's List" application principles are awarded a certificate of achievement with a ceremony. The names of those that have received the certificates are also announced on the university website.

Recognition of Prior Learning, Course Exemption and Adaptation

The students that have been successful in the courses they have taken by attending another higher education institution can be exempted from the equivalent courses in the program they have been accepted to, by the decision of the relevant administrative board.

The learning outcomes of the students who have been accepted to the programs of the university can be associated with the learning outcomes and credits of the courses within the scope of the relevant program. Students who document the acquisition of these learning outcomes and their related processes may be exempted from the exams to be held in the courses to which their learning outcomes are associated, provided that they are successful and with the decision of the relevant administrative board.

Students who graduated from secondary education institutions implementing the International Baccalaureate Diploma Program (IB) and were accepted to the University may be exempted from the courses they took during their high school education, with the decision of the relevant board of directors, from the courses equivalent to the courses in the program they were accepted to.

Within the scope of the recognition of prior learning and course exemption, the Senate may decide to hold exemption exams for the common courses in the curriculum on the dates specified in the academic calendar.

In order for the students who are adjusted to be exempt from the courses to obtain the right to graduate, it is required to have been registered at the University for at least one semester in associate degree programs and at least two semesters in undergraduate programs.

Exams

The exams held during the semester are the final exam, single course exam, make-up exam, exemption exam and additional exams.

Mid-Semester

Exams are the mid-term exams and cover the courses included in the curriculum of that semester and are given within the dates specified by the academic calendar. Other quizzes, projects, homework and similar mid-term assessment activities are held in each academic semester at times deemed appropriate by the relevant instructor. Students who do not attend the mid-term exams of the courses can take the final exam of the courses if they have fulfilled the attendance requirement.

Final Exam

Final Exam is the exam given in each academic semester, within the dates specified by the academic calendar, after the semester courses are completed from the courses included in the curriculum of that semester. In order to take the final exams, it is necessary to fulfil the attendance requirement of the relevant courses.

Single Course Exam

Single course exam can be taken by students who have successfully completed all the courses in the curriculum (including applied education, project courses, graduation project courses, etc.) except for one course.

Students who have taken this course before and failed with FF, FD, BZ grades can enter the single course exam.

A single course exam is held at the end of each semester. Single course exam dates and exam application dates are announced in the academic calendar. Students who want to take a single course exam can apply for the single course exam via OIS on the date specified in the academic calendar.

For the students whose objections to the exam grades have been granted; for the students participating in the national and international student mobility program; and for the students who participated in the summer education program in another higher education institution and could not take a single course exam but has only one course left to graduate, an additional single course exam right can be granted through a Senate decision.

The semester work and studies are not taken into account in the evaluation of the single course exam for success. In order to be successful in the exam, a minimum grade of CC must be obtained.

The single course exam grade is shown on the transcript within the semester in which the course is included and is taken into account in the calculation of GPA. In case of failure in a single course exam, students can choose to take the course again in the semester in which the course is opened, or take the single course exams opened at the end of the semester, within the maximum period of study.

Make-Up Exam

Make-up exam is a right granted by the relevant board of directors for students who cannot attend the midterm and final exams due to a valid excuse. The student who cannot attend the exams due to an excuse, submits the document stating the nature of their excuse to the dean's office or directorate of the academic unit to which he is affiliated, within five working days following the end of the exams at the latest. The relevant board of directors may grant the right to take a make-up exam for the relevant course for the students who submit their excuses in due time and whose excuses are justified and based on valid reasons. Make-up exams are held on dates to be determined by the relevant board of directors. Excuses related to health must be documented with a medical health report obtained from official health institutions.

Exemption Exam

Within the scope of the recognition of prior learning and course exemption, the University Senate may decide to give exemption exams for some courses in the curriculum on the dates specified by the academic calendar. Students who succeed in these exams are exempted from the relevant courses, the success grades of the exempted courses are converted into letter grades and these grades are included in the GPA calculation.

Additional Exam

The final year students that cannot meet the graduation requirements at the end of their maximum education period are granted an additional exam right allowing them to graduate only within the framework of the provisions of Article 44 of the Law No. 2547.

Final Grade

In formal education programs, students' final grades related to a course are calculated by taking 50% of the weighted average of the grades they received from the mid-term assessment and evaluation activities and 50% of the grades they received from the final exam.

In the relative evaluation of a course, students with a passing grade and/or final exam grade below 35 are considered unsuccessful in that course.

There are no midterm and final exams for Applied Training (internship) at the workplace. The evaluation regarding the internship activity is carried out according to the principles determined by the Senate. Internship final grade is evaluated with BI (Pass) and BZ (Fail) grades and these grades are not included in the grade averages.

Objection to Exam Grades

Mid-term and final exams are announced by the instructors in EÖBS as raw grades. Students can object to the exam grade of a course in writing to the relevant dean's office or directorate within five working days following the announcement of this grade on EÖBS.

Calculation of Success Score

Final grades are calculated by considering the statistical distribution of absolute grades within a class and the class average, and are determined by converting them into letter grades. The absolute grade system is used for the number of students who do not comply with the minimum relative evaluation limit. The relationship between the absolute grades and the letter grades and the principles regarding the numerical success grade equivalents of these grades are given below.

The relationship and definitions of absolute grades with letter and numerical success grades are given in the table below;

| Absolute Grade | Letter Grade | Numeric Grade | Meaning   |
|----------------|--------------|---------------|-----------|
| 90-100         | AA           | 4,00          | Perfect   |
| 80-89          | BA           | 3,50          | Very Good |
